Buck-Yerkes Nuptials.

One of the prettiest weddings that ever occurred in Paris was that of Miss Carol Buck to Mr. John Yerkes, which was solemnized last evening at 8 o'clock at the Second Presbyterian church by the Rev. Dr. E. H. Rutherford, pastor of the church.

The church was tastefully decorated with beautiful palms, ferns and orange trees, banked around and above the pulpit forming a beautiful background for the bridal party.

For a time before the ceremony Mrs. Owen L. Davis, with her rich and sweet soprano voice, gave a delightful program, first singing "I Would Live or I Would Die for Thee," then "Love Me and the World is Mine," and "My Dear."

Promptly at the appointed hour Miss Frances Johnson, the accomplished organist, began Lohengrin's wedding march. The two little flower girls, Misses Tot Yerkes and Frances Clay, carrying bouquets of roses, then entered the doors.

They were followed by the bridal party walking two abreast, in the following order: Mr. James Buckner and Mr. Buckner Woodford, Jr., Miss Elizabeth Emory and Miss Helen Frank, Mr. James Woodford and Mr. John Spears.

The Maid of Honor, Miss Hattie Hill Mann, followed these, then came the lovely bride upon the arm of her brother, Mr. Lucien Buck.

The groom and his best man, Mr. Clarence Kenney, met the bridal party at the foot of the rostrum. The members of the party then grouped about the bride and groom, the effect being most picturesque against the bank of evergreens.

The bride was gowned in white Princess satin, trimmed in white tulle en train, caught with a spray of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

The Maid of Honor was gowned in solid radium pink silk, and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. The gowns of the bridesmaids were all alike—white point de spray over pink silk, trimmed in pink satin ribbon, with long pink streamers.

The bride is the lovely, bright and attractive daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Buck, and is a very accomplished young lady.

The groom is the son of Prof. and Mrs. W. L. Yerkes, and is one of our most popular young business men, being a member of the firm of Yerkes & Kenney, the late successors in business to Mr. R. J. Neely. He is one of our model young men, and we congratulate him on winning such an excellent young woman to travel down the pathway of life by his side.

This popular young couple received near two hundred of the very handsomest of presents from their friends and relatives.

After the ceremony they left on the 10:30 L. & N. train for a trip to Washington City, New York and other Eastern cities.

St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

Services—Sunday 10 a. m. Sunday school; 11 a. m. morning prayer and sermon; 7:30 p. m. evening service; Wednesday, 7:30 p. m. evening prayer and litany. R. S. Litsinger, Pastor.

Local Street Car To Be Put On.

The court street car to ply between the court house and junction of the Bethlehem and Hume & Bedford pikes, will probably be put on about May 1st. Superintendent Arthur Smith, of the Traction Company, says, however, that our people must patronize the local car instead of the through cars, which are much delayed by the frequent stops within the city limits.

72,000 Acres Pledged.

The board of directors of the American Society of Equity, which met at Winchester, Wednesday, announced that 72,000 acres of the 1907 crop of burley tobacco had been pledged to be handled by the American Society of Equity. Following this announcement, President Clarence Lebus, of Cynthia, said that 72,000 acres of the 1907 crop pledged is 7,000 acres more than was pledged of the 1906 crop to the society. The board of directors decided not to give out the detailed amount of tobacco that has been signed up in each county, as the society finds that it has not only the trusts to combat, but also the warehouse men.

Pastor's Anniversary.

By unanimous vote of the Elizaville Presbyterian church, Saturday, May 4th, was selected as the day upon which to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of Dr. Henry M. Scudder's pastorate.

An interesting program will be arranged and dinner served in the annex. As Dr. Scudder was in old Center's famous 1855 class, it is confidently expected that relatives of the late Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge, ex-Governor Brown, ex-Governor Crittenden and Editor Thomas M. Green will be present.

Chaplain Appointed.

General James R. Rogers, of this county, one of the most prominent Confederate soldiers of Central Kentucky, has been appointed by Rev. Howard A. M. Henderson, of Hartwell, O., chaplain of his staff with the rank of Major for the occasion of the Confederate reunion to be held at Richmond, Va., May 30. The Rev. Mr. Henderson is one of the most prominent ministers of the Methodist church and formerly resided at Millersburg, this county.

Dr. Henderson, who was formerly State Superintendent of Public Instruction and is an author of note, was a soldier in the Confederacy, and in his boyhood days was a companion of General Rogers. Dr. Henderson in a letter accepts the honor conferred.

The Crops.

Clover seed sown in March is all killed and is being sown again. Clover seed is selling at $9.50 per bushel. Some few crops of oats left. Tobacco plants nearly all killed. Fruit of all kinds killed, excepting late apples and blue damsons.

County Treasurer's Report.

We desire to call the attention of the News readers to the report of the Treasurer of Bourbon county. It will be found on pages six and seven.

Street Sweepers.

Mayor James M. O'Brien and the Board of Council deserve the thanks of our citizens for introducing the new street sweepers. They sweep clean and are quite an improvement over the old way. The city should congratulate itself on having an up-to-date Mayor and Council.

Anniversary Of Oddfellowship.

The 88th anniversary of Odd Fellowship will be appropriately observed today by the order throughout the country. At the meeting of Bourbon Lodge next Monday night an address will be made by a brother appropriate to the occasion, and the young members of the order, lately added to Bourbon Lodge, are urged to be present.

May Lose Both Legs.

Mrs. Celia Ann Banks, who was on her way from West Virginia to Jackson, stepped directly in front of a moving train on the C. & O. road at Winchester and was run over Tuesday morning. One leg was cut off and probably she was hurt internally. She was sent to St. Joseph Hospital, Lexington, and it is thought her other limb will have to be amputated, it being so badly mangled.

It Pays to Advertise.

The advertising columns of The Bourbon News have been the means of making two people happy in the past week. One lady lost a $600 ring, which she advertised in this paper, another $18 in cash on our streets, which the finder advertised in our last issue. Both the ring and cash are now in our hands ready to be turned over to the owners, both of whom are rejoicing.

Flowers at Eighth St. Greenhouse

A choice line of greenhouse and bedding plants for sale cheap.

Paris Building Association.

We are indeed glad to learn that there is a movement on foot to organize a Building and Loan Association in Paris. We hope the business men here will encourage this enterprise and make it a success. A good live Association here will do a great deal toward building up Paris and help many poor people to own their homes who never can without the aid of such an institution. Let this be strictly a home association and organize on the perpetual plan. Talk it up among your friends and decide how much stock you will take yourself. The subscription books will be opened at an early date.

NOTICE.

To the Citizens of Paris: You are hereby notified to clean up your premises, remove all ash banks and garbage from back yards, clean out all privy vaults and cess pools and stable lots, and place them in a sanitary condition. By order of the Board of Health.

Is our boasted prosperity based on sound business, or is it bolstered up and at the mercy of the protected interests and the corporations? There are many indications of a turn in the business tide and that even the tariff protected trusts are feeling it and are refusing to raise the wages of their workmen to keep pace with the increased cost of living. The railroad managers are postponing indefinitely all track construction and other improvements not in course of completion or absolutely necessary. "Workmen are being discharged," says a dispatch from Chicago, "and wages of laborers who last year were receiving from $1.50 to $2.25 a day, are now accepting from $1.25 to $1.50. Track layers or steel gangs get from $1.40 to $1.60 a day or about 50 cents less than last year." The same dispatch informs us that "Italian, Greek, Austrian and Belgium laborers are now far in excess of the demand for them," for, of course, the poorest laborer is the first dismissed and employers take their pick of those wanting work."

If this shutting down process continues to any great extent there will be a period of great suffering next winter in the greater cities, for the in pour of immigrants still shows no sign of slackening. This congestion of laborers in the cities may be in a measure palliated by large crops and the offer of good wages by the farmers to gather them. But raw labor does not understand the using of machinery, or handling horses and who cannot speak or understand English, are not acceptable, so the relief must come by the more intelligent labor seeking the farms and fields and thus lessening the strain on those who remain in the cities. It is astonishing how soon a small surplus of labor reduces wages and causes misery in place of prosperity, when the prosperity depends upon the hot bed system of protecting industrial corporations by the tariff and public service corporations by monopolies.

The fact is the Wall Street element, which controls all the corporations, have sickened to death the goose that has been laying the golden eggs, by feeding her on stocks and bonds in much greater amount than could be digested. Even the gold and currency inflation has not been sufficient to keep pace with this bogus prosperity and a period of fasting is necessary to allow the goose to recuperate. This must be accompanied by a similar period of declining prices, for with reduced wages, consumers cannot buy so freely, until there is an evening up between wages and prices.

The moral the public, who will be the chief sufferers, should take to heart, is that tariff protection to trusts and corporations will not produce lasting prosperity, for it is eventually disastrous to take from the many for the benefit of the few. And that is what the Republican system of so-called protection accomplishes.

Republican Protection.

When the salaries of members of Congress were raised 50 per cent by the last Congress, it was claimed that this increase was necessary because the cost of living had advanced in the same proportion. This Republican argument for the increase is an acknowledgment that protecting the trusts with high tariff rates has vastly advanced in prices had not been anything like what the Democrats claimed was for political effect only. The Republican majority in Congress refused to revise the tariff to relieve the people from the exactions of the tariff protected trusts, but they did not stand pat on their own incomes. Protecting the trusts is quite a different proposition from protecting the people.

A Fair Comparison.

The fact that Mr. Harriman, the most influential and corrupt railroad magnate, was consulted by the President about his recommendations to Congress on railroad rate legislation is the more important question than the raising of a corruption fund by the corporation magnates. It is about analogous to a Prohibition convention calling in the most influential saloonkeeper to advise the committee on resolutions what to put in the platform. No wonder the railroad rate bill is ineffective.

Calm Down.

Free advice when not requested is rarely acceptable, and even the expensive counsel of lawyers and doctors is often neglected. Dr. James D. Day, Chancellor of Syracuse University, in a late issue of Leslie's Weekly gives his version of the cause of the panic and incidentally tenders his advice to President Roosevelt. "We are overloaded," says Dr. Day, "until about every form of business is outlawed. We have so many laws and so many unifying commissions, so many special and assistant prosecuting attorneys barking on the scent that the business man today cannot tell from one day to another whose law he is violating. If President Roosevelt wants my suggestion for a remedy of evils I would say to him: 'Calm down. Study Washington's farewell address, as caution against the misuse of the constitution; study Lincoln's mighty faith and superb patience and his charity for all; study McKinley's philosophical, practical sound sense and give the people a rest. The evils are to be corrected by the force of public sentiment acting sanely and calmly and they will vanish away into regions whence come all disturbing ghosts.'"

Jumping Jeosaphat! How can the President "calm down," with Harriman telling tales out of school and the ghost of the strumpet of corruption stalking in naked horror through the land. With all the Tennis Court Cabinet rushing to the White House, at all hours, with tidings of plots and conspirators and hair raising tales of the double dealing and grafting of this one and that one of the Republican politicians, how can the President hold down the lid on such a Pandora box of political evils? Calm down! Why it is a wonder the roof of the White House is in place and it probably would not be if the whole truth of Republican corruption and depravity was exposed to a patient people.

It's all very well for Dr. Day, from his easy chair, with the Rockefeller millions behind him and the trust checks in front of him, to advise the President to calm down. He evidently does not know the worries and provocations that beset our Chief Magistrate and does not appreciate the rending of the Republican factions nor the political earthquake that is pending. How can President Roosevelt calm down, when he is sitting on the cusp of a political volcano that threatens eruption at any time?

Inconsistencies of Our National Life.

[From Our Country.]

The American believes that all men are created free and equal except himself, who was born when the earth was in perihelion.

He is an enterprising reformer who pleads for the simple life and pays ten dollars a plate for a banquet that would tax the digestive forces of an ostrich.

He proclaims himself boss of the world and keeps awake at night trying to devise means to escape the bossism of little politicians.

He stands ready to supply liberty to all mankind and commits the government of his great cities to men to whom he would not lend a hundred dollars without collateral.

He cultivates the lowly and contrite spirit and promptly threatens to thrash any European nation that touches the Monroe Doctrine, behind which hide the little bankrupt bullies of Central and South America.

He takes pride in the authorship of "Millions for Defense but not a cent for Tribute," and fees everybody and keeps the grafters prosperous.

He attends mass meetings to promote the ends of justice and stops on his way home to swear off his taxes.

He remains, after all, about the best of the lot at present claiming the globe. The millennium may catch him before he is prepared, but it will find him pushing along in the general direction of better things.

A Novel Wedding.

A novel wedding occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sellers, who reside near this city of the Bethlehem pike. The principals in the affair are negro servants of their home, and owing to their faithfulness were permitted to marry in the parlors of the palatial mansion. The officiating minister, Rev. Quarrels, of Paris, was also a servant of Mr. Sellers' father, the late Jerome Sellers, of Lexington. The couple was Mrs. Sellers' cook, Maria Jackson, and William Johnson, driver of Mr. Sellers' dairy wagon. Another prominent feature of the occasion was the difference in the size of the principals, the bride weighing 293 pounds and the bridegroom 143 pounds.

Courts To Decide Local Option Election At Owensboro.

In spite of 442 against prohibition in the city of Owensboro, there is a question in some quarters as to whether Owensboro went "wet" or "dry" in Saturday's local option election.

It is stated by some that the prohibition people will make an attempt to have the Court hold that the licensing of saloons in Owensboro is prohibited by the result of the election in the county as a whole.

The county as a whole went "dry" by over 1,500 votes. The contention will be based primarily on a single sentence of the County Unit Law, or generally speaking, on the rather ambiguous nature of this amendatory act of the Legislature of 1905—"when an election is held in an entire county and a majority of the legal votes cast at said election are against the sale of intoxicating liquors, then it shall not be lawful to sell, barter or loan such liquors in any portion of the county." This is the portion of the law on which the prohibitionists will principally rest their case.

Pooling Wheat.

The Society of Equity has begun the pooling of the wheat crop of the great wheat raising States of the West. One dollar per bushel is the price fixed as equitable and fair and no one can deny that this is a reasonable price. With dollar wheat, six cent hogs, six cent lambs, six cent cattle and fifteen cent tobacco, the farmer will be coming in to something like his own.

The Famous Kentucky Association.

The famous Lexington Race Track, the oldest and most historic course in America, was recently purchased by an organization of prominent thoroughbred breeders and business men of Central Kentucky who have re-organized the Kentucky Association. Under its direction and auspices a spring meeting will be given at Lexington for seven days—April 27th to May 4th inclusive. On account of the short time allowed for preparation, it was not possible to offer any stakes, but a programme book of splendid purse events has been arranged, and the Lexington meeting will be the best held there in a great many years, for this will be the first time that a spring meeting there will encounter no opposition from any other track in the Middle West. The Lexington Race course is race with traditions. It has played a big part in the history of the thoroughbred horse in America. There occurred the famous match race between Ten Broeck and Aristides, and there many other famous stars of the turf, in years past, have received their preparation for the victorious campaigns, and have earned the laurels which make their names, even to this day, almost a household word. Racing will be revived at Lexington on a more pretentious scale than ever, and it will be characterized by the same high toned management, the same sportsman-like endeavor to bring about great contests, that has ever been characteristic of the Kentucky Association and the men in control of it.

The various railroads leading into Lexington have offered a special rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip during the week of April 27th to May 4th, good until May 6th.

"The Old World and Its Ways."

Col. William Jennings Bryan announces a new book of travel entitled "The Old World and Its Ways," which recounts his recent tour around the world and his journeys through Europe. It is profusely and elegantly illustrated with 210 artistic engravings representing men and things seen in the various countries of the earth during that noted journey. The engravings are made from photographs taken by him and his party specially for this publication. It is the monumental literary work of his life, and it is published under his special personal supervision. He has, by special contract with his publishers, made the retail prices low down with the view to putting it within the easy reach of every reader of books and every man or woman who thinks.

The book gives his experiences—what he saw and did—whom he met and his impressions and conclusions. He made a profound study of men and things he saw in this noted journey around the world. He gives governmental, educational, religious and other conditions, from the standpoint of a student and one profoundly interested in the people of the earth, wherever distributed.

While Col. Bryan traveled as a private citizen he went with the prestige of having made two memorable contests for the Presidency of the United States, and he was everywhere recognized and entertained as a great representative American, having a leading part in the direction of American affairs. He was given opportunity for observation and for ascertaining facts and conditions never before accorded to any one traveling in private company.

If one wants to see the world, and the people who are at the head of affairs in all countries, as well as the masses, he has in this book an opportunity of seeing them through the eyes of Col. William Jennings Bryan. It is sold by subscription, and the Thompson Publishing Company, of St. Louis, Mo., are the fortunate publishers. They offer an opportunity for solicitors in another column of this issue.

Value of 1906 Tobacco Crop.

The growing importance of the tobacco industry may be realized from a brief summary of the estimates of the value of the crop in the United States in the season of 1906. About 736,000 acres of tobacco were grown, producing an average yield of 857.2 pounds to the acre, or a total of 632,428,530 pounds. The average value of the crop was ten cents per pound or a total of about $63,242,853. While it is almost impossible to comprehend the magnitude of the value of the manufactured product of tobacco, a glance at the total figures may convey some idea of the development of this great and distinctive American industry. In 1900 the total value of the manufactured products of tobacco was $283,076,546. In the manufacture 142,177 people were employed, who earned a total wage of $49,852,484. The United States now grows by far the largest quantity of tobacco produced by any country in the world. While tobacco was grown by the first settlers in the colonies, and was one of their principal cash crops, the extensive development of the industry has been a matter of comparatively recent years. Kentucky produces almost 300,000,000 pounds, nearly half the entire production of the United States.

Lead Ore In Scott.

Capt. John S. Hunter, of Georgetown, has recently been taking out a quantity of lead ore on the Caleb Thomas farm, two and a half miles from town, on the Paris pike, which is of a quality to promise valuable developments if the veins should hold out as well as the signs at present indicate.

Capt. Hunter, who is an expert in Metallurgy, while driving along the pike not long ago caught sight of some outcropping of rock in a field just beyond the dividing fence, which caused him to stop and make closer inspection. The result was that he hastened to secure a lease on the farm of which this field was a part, and succeeded after a little parlying.

Without delay he proceeded to probe the rock and clay with pick and blast, and has not taken out about one hundred and thirty tons of the ore. Specimens of this have been subjected to assay and much of it yields 90 per cent. of pure lead. He has gone in on the drift at an angle for a distance of about 90 feet. He considers that the veins are more or less extensive, and he will shortly install apparatus on a modern scale at first and sink shafts, from which he will work in different directions. Both the clay and the limestone already dug out are heavy with the lead. Some of this he had a blacksmith put in a ladle over his forge with the result that he drew off pure metal. A portion of it fused at 375 degrees and some at 520.

Capt. Hunter's own judgment of the value of the ore has been enhanced by the favorable comment of an expert from Joplin, Mo., the great lead region. This expert will probably be put in charge of the construction plans.

THE NAME NORTH STAR

Has become a household word, not only in this country, but in Europe, South America and Australia, as well. The wall construction of the NORTH STAR is as follows:

- 1st. The outside case.
- 2d. Dead air space.
- 3d. A lining of non-conducting sheathing.
- 4th. A wall of granulated cork.
- 5th. A lining of non-conducting sheathing.
- 6th. A wall of matched lumber.
- 7th. A wall of galvanized steel and zinc.

Do you think the United States Navy would use this refrigerator if it was not the best made? If you want the best you will have to buy the NORTH STAR. I sell this Refrigerator on an absolute guarantee to give satisfaction. I have now in stock a full line. If you buy any other kind you don't get as good.
